

At Simonton, we understand that when it comes to your home, there is no such thing as a small detail. That's why DaylightMax windows feature many thoughtful details that make a very big difference.

AutoSense™ Lock peace of mind.

The lock is automatically activated when the window is closed, so you always know when your windows are locked.

The AutoSense™ Lock surpasses the nation's strictest forced entry code requirements.

The sleek, low-profile design doesn't intrude into the sightline.

Color-matched or available in a satin nickel finish,* it's as attractive as it is strong.

On Casement windows, the convenient handle virtually disappears when not in use.

The Simonton difference is in the details.

- A A mitered glazing bead provides a neatly finished appearance.
- B The interlock features the same narrow, low profile design as the frame, for attractive symmetry.
- C Weep holes are covered by small baffles to keep insects out and to provide a finished look.

Custom sizes ensure a perfect fit for virtually any application—even as small as this operable 20" x 8.5" Slider.

The DaylightMax continuous radius frame has no weld lines. Many competitive brands place unsightly weld lines where the straight legs meet the radius on the frame.

*Satin nickel finish available on AutoSense™ lock starting May 2011.
